The Hemel Hempstead School has a large and thriving Sixth Form of nearly 300 Students.

Sixth Formers are highly valued members of the school. Student leadership features very heavily in our commitment to ensuring that our young people maximise their personal as well as academic potential. Sixth Formers can be House Captains, organising a variety of competitions every year. They organise charity fundraising activities and act as prefects and mentors for younger pupils. The Head Students, their deputies and other year 13 students form the Senior Prefect Team, which plays a major role both within the Sixth Form community and in representing the school on a wider basis.

Students have excellent access to academic facilities, with regular support from their subject teachers, Form Tutors, and the Sixth Form Team. Lessons in the Sixth Form are very supportive, but have a large emphasis on personal study and revision, and making the most of study periods. There are many programmes designed to aid the progress of individuals, such as The Dragon's Apprentice programme, as well as specialist Careers advice and employment guidance for those looking for entry to higher education. Students successfully move on to Higher Education, apprenticeships or employment.
